Appointment of committees to notify the President of the

The general of the Army has no definite duties in times of peace. It is understood, therefore, that the Fresident and Secretary of Warhave determined to ask Congress for legislation defining duties for a general of the Army in supreme command, but they would not disturb the present organization, which calls for a Chief of Staff. The Chief of Staff, who would continue to function as he now does, would, under the proposed plan, serve under the general of the Army, and Gen. Pershing would, therefore, be continued in his high post of supremacy as the highest ranking officer of the American military forces.

The miners' executive conferred for some time after the meeting with the owners and the Premier. At the conclusion of the miners' meeting one of their representatives characterized the situation as more hopeful, saying he believed there was no danger that a triple-alliance strike would be begun Tuesday night.

SUMMARY OF HOPE. Reuter's gives the following summary of the strike situation, which reflects the semiofficial viewpoint:
"The fact that the miners have now agreed to meet the owners is regarded as positive evidence that the strike is certain to be settled.
"The compromise arranged on Saturday has been halled with intense satisfaction by the whole country.

The eventual resumption of work at a lower wage scale will, it is expected, produce an immediate fail in the cost of living, with, at the same time, a proportionate improvement in the value of wages. In fact, it is anticipated that such a settlement will be the turning point in the depression which had been so marked of late:

"Throughout the strike there has been no loss of human life, and the Communists, who hoped to reap a harvest, now, it is noped, realize the insignificance of their influence among the British working class. The intimation that the government is prepared to grant monetary assistances to tide over the wage difficulty in unproductive districts has greatly eased the situation,"

Little Children

Brighten Homes

EVERY young couple starting out in life has visions of joyful hours spent before the fireside with healthy, happy children; but, alas, how often young women who long to children are denied that happiness because of some functional derangement which may be corrected by proper treatment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine for these conditions, as the following letters show:

MoDonald, Ohio.—"I suffered from a displacement, a weakness, and a great deal of pain. The doctor said nothing would help me but an operation. He said I could never have any children because I was too weak.

"I had often heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I tried it and it helped me. Now I am in the best of health, do all of my own work, and have a lovely boy six months old. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you have my permission to use this letter."—

Now Rickard is trying once more to grab Benny Leonard and Rocky Kansas for the May 2 date. Kansas is willing and the big promoter is waiting for word from the lightweight champion to clinch the bargain. Rocky and Benjamin will probably work on a percentage basis.

THE WAGGLE COUNTS; YOUR HANDS PLAY AN IMPORTANT PART IN ALL GOLF STROKES.

PICTURES SHOW DETAILS.

Pictures were taken recently of twenty or more pros in England while driving the ball. They were slowed down to one-eighth their normal speed and many interesting things were discovered. The waggle, of course, came out prominently when the speed was so reduced, but the most important thing discovered was the start of the clubhead on the back swing.

In five out of six swings dissected in this manner, the hands were seen to move first. That is, they made the first movement and then the clubhead followed. This is contrary to the general belief, as many golfers would have been willing to take oath that they started the clubhead first.

In my own case, I am not prepared to say which is first. I make an effort to start the hands and the clubhead at the same time, but if the camera were turned on me, I am not so sure but that it would show that one or the other got away first.

QUEER MOVES.

QUEER MOVES.

There are many queer moves made with the hands, but all to a purpose, at least when done by our best golfers. Some have what is known as the press forward, a very common thing, and then there is the press downward, no more nor less than a straightening of the muscles. In the press forward, the hands are seen to move from two to three inches forward, then instead of stopping when the line is reached, they continue on and be-

When you observe a golfer on the tee and see him make ready to hit the ball with a little preliminary movement back and forth, you will usually find that in this one thing every man has a distinct individuality.

It is commonly referred to as the waggle, and quite appropriately too. It is quite exaggerated in some players and cut very briefly in others. Of all the pros I have ever seen play. George Duncan has the quickest waggle, while Sandy Hurd has the most pronounced. Duncan's waggle consists of merely moving the club head forward then backward behind the ball again and finally the swing, all done so quickly that one would have to look very closely to observe any preliminary movement at all.

Duncan's waggle consists of merely moving the club head forward then backward behind the ball again and finally the swing, all done so quickly that one would have to look very closely to observe any preliminary movement at all.

CONSIDERABLE TIME.

Sandy Hurd takes considerable time in getting under way, and pounds the ground several times before making any effort to start the club on its journey. It appears to be only a means of sparring for time while he is getting his nerves set for the swing.

time while he is getting his nerves set for the swing.

A golfer remarked to him one day that he took an awfully long time to hit the ball.

"Yes," said Hurd, "and I make an awfully lot of good shots, too."

Perhaps the most remarkable waggle of all is that of big Ted Ray, who won our open championship last year. Golfers all over the country have seen him play, if not in the championships, in the exhibition matches, yet I will wager that there is not one in a thousand that can describe his system of waggling. In fact, the movies have opened up a lot of new ideas for us along this line, and they have discovered too, that big Ted in his waggle does it all with his hands, and not with the clubhead. He moves the hands back and forth, with the clubhead in practically the same position all the time.

UNION MOTORS, Inc.

In announcing this new dealership, we wish to direct the attention of the public to an outstanding fact in the present motor car situation.

This fact is the fulfillment of the recently announced determination of the new and powerful organization now manufacturing the Maxwell Car, "to give motor car values so unmistakable that they cannot remain for a moment in question."

As men whose business implies intimate knowledge of motor cars and motor car values, we have been familiar with the Maxwell car for many years.

We have long admired the Maxwell as a mechanism. In low cost of repair, in durability, and in operating econ-omy, we are convinced that there can be no doubt of Maxwell's superiority in its class.

With such knowledge of Maxwell's worth, we could not fail to recognize that the present Maxwell prices make the good Maxwell one of the two or three outstanding motor car values.

In becoming representatives for the good Maxwell car under such circumstances, we are harry in the knowledge under such circumstances, we are happy in the knowledge that we can stand behind this car with all the force of our business aincerity.

something to do with it.

Therefore, look while you may at one of the most spectacular and artistic which has ever come to the Orpheum, viz., that offered by that very enthralling artist, Arman Kaliz, in "Temptation." Just for once a sirl act slips a thrill to the women, too, for Kaliz himself is the Lew Cody of vaudeville, gallant, fascinating, debonair and possessed of a wonderfully effective voice.

"Temptation" is a sort of morality operetta, full of personification of vice, virtue, temptation, extravasance, passion, etc., and, of course, in order to make it realistic, the young ladies who play those parts have to dress, or rather, undress the parts, in appropriate fashion.

Oh, I'll tell you this morality play stuff is a great way for slipping the thrills to the godly!

Mr. Kaliz has used girls, scenery, costume, color and song to paint a

In fact, "Scarlet" continues to rip the rafters.

You've heard of the violin 'that sings and weeps and laughs. Fradkin owns it. He turned the worst lowbrows among us into highbrows yesterday with the poignant beauty of his music. Jean Tell, a lovely girl with a very lovely voice, who is to be congratulated on the clearness of her enunciation as well, proved a wonderful addition to the act. It's a great pity not to have a whole column for this rewew, because the bill in its entirety is one of the best that's ever played the Orpheum during my long and sometimes extremely bored incumbency on the Monday afternoon death

WOMEN HAVE REAL BOUT.

Men going out on the football field wear knee pads, because they know they are going to be kicked, but the two women who engaged in a hand-to-hand battle in "Don't Neglect Your Wife." the Gertrude Atherton picture, in which the lowest district of New York City in 1869 is pictured, wore ont only knee pads, but pads over nearly their entire bodies. They knew it was not going to be a sham bout, but a genuine fight, in which they would try their best to roll each other in the muck and filth of Five Points. Approximately $90 union painters in the San Francisco Bay region went on strike today to enforce a demand for $93 a day, it was announced by $3. F. Murray, secretary of the painters' local.

The painters recently were given an $8.35 wage by a special board of arbitration. This, they contended, was 15 cents lower than the figure agreed upon by the employers. ## HAYWOOD AND OTHER I.W.W. LOSE APPEAL

Supreme Court Decides That Agitators Must Serve Time in Prison.

(SY A. F. MGET WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—William D. Haywood and seventy-nine other Industrial Workers of the World, convicted before Federal Index. world, convicted before Federal Judge Landis at Chicago in 1913 of attempting to obstruct the government's prossecution of the war, must return to prison as a result of the refusal today of the Supreme Court to review their case.

Haywood, a former secretary of the Lw.W., and fourteen others, were sentenced to twenty years each and fined sums ranging from $20,000 to $35,000. They and others were sent to the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., but were released on ball bonds aggregating $500,000 pending the outcome of their appeals.

The trials resulted from a raid on the offices and homes of members of the I.W.W. by the Department of Justice in September, 1917. A total of 166 men was brought into court on charges of violating the Selective Service and Espionage acts, and ninety-seven convicted.

Some served their sentences. In appealing the men argued that the principal evidence used against them was illegally obtained in that it was seized by Federal agents during the raid without search warrants.

CHICAGO, April 11. — A request for general amnesty will be the next step in the efforts to save from prison William D. Haywood and his assistants. This was announced to day by Otto Christensen, attorney for Haywood. He said he would attend the meeting to be held at Washington April 13, at which members of the Socialist party intended to request amnesty for Eugene V. Debs and other prisoners. The appeal for amnesty for Haywood, he says would be based on the ground he is a political prisoner.

These were raised by rear guards, thus balking the pursuers.

Consider the Risk

Easy money is a thing much talked of and little seen. Most of us work hard for what we get. By the same token we should work harder to conserve our savings.

The best bonds ever offered the public are to be had today at bargain prices—yielding from 6% to 8%. Few indeed are the seasoned stocks that will consistently yield a greater return. The new stock that promises an exorbitant yield is speculative. It may pay a good return, and again it may not! That is the risk. We know that in the long run, bonds are the safest investment for large or small sums.

Whether you are experienced in investing or not—whether your savings are small or large—it will cost you nothing to

FORBIGN FINANCING.

There is much discussion of ways and means for financing foreign trade and the greatest interest was expressed in our Foreign Trade Financing Corporation, as well as the Ter Muelen plan, which was proposed at the Brussels conference of the League of Nations. These plans are quite similar and provide for the extension of long-term credits to Europe by the issuance of bonds for provision of funds.

There is a universal feeling of regret in Europe that it has not been possible for the United States to take a more active part in the settlement of these reconstruction problems and they are looking to this country for guidance and assistance in even as great a degree as during the dark days of the war. Many private expressions of opinion are heard to the effect that these problems never would be settled until the United States took a hand and any assumption of leadership or authority on the comparative statement of business as of that date made yesterday through the Los Angeles branch of the Twelfth Federal Reserve Bank. A year ago the total gold reserves held in San Francisco were $145,201,000. Other totals contained in the statement follow:

BERRY CROP AND PRICES.

The berry crop in the Los Angeles district will be large. Picking of straws is now progressing and the berries are of fine grade. So far the price is maintained around 25 cents the box, but there are some indications that the high level which persisted last year through the season will be lowered this year in harmony with general reductions of other commedities, and because the public is not in a mood to pay the higher prices.

This probability finds expression in word which comes from the valleys of the Pacific Northwest which is to the effect that canned berries and other small fruits, as well as ams and jelles, will cost the ultimate consumer from 20 to 45 per cent less than last year.

This is the forecast of an official of a large canning and preserving company which supplies eastern and central western markets. The reason this official advances is the large, crop to be harvested. Southern growers are not yet willing to predict so sharp a break, but it seems probable that there will be a reflection here of the conditions to which he refers.

The berry growers will bear their part of the readjustment, he says, for fruit that netted the farmers 10 to 13 cents a pound last year will be contracted for at from 4 to 6 cents this season. The drop in returns to the farmer will be directly reflected in prices to the consumer, although not to so great a degree as might be expected, because of trop-destroying weather in the Central West and because labor, tinplate and glass have not declined. ### TEXAS OIL IS KING AGAIN OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

If I were buying oil stock, I would first like to know this, first, who is drilling the wells, then I would want to know if the men behind the gun, were men of experience. Then I would want to know, how much acreage the wells were being drilled on.

The Winnsboro Petroleum Company was organized by men who have spent the best part of their lives in the game. Some of the very best oil companies have had only small leases, usually eighty acres, sometimes less. The Winnsboro Petroleum Company have a lease of one thousand acres around the Attaway well, and one thousand acres around the Morris well. Take your pencil and figure your chances to win, with a well on one or both of these leases. Figures don't lie.

We also have a few small leases near these wells for sale. Call at our office for a copy of the Geological Map of Texas, Free. W. T. MAXEY, BROKER 621 Pacific Finance Bldg.

SACRAMENTO, April 11.—The new motor vehicle bill prepared by the Assembly Motor Vehicle Com-

the Assembly Motor Vehicle Committee was under consideration to-day and tonight in that committee and an executive session to complete consideration was called for tomorrow morning.

The bill was attacked today by Superintendent Charles Chenu of the motor vehicle department, who raised objection to some sections because he said they would delay the workings of his office and make the acquiring of a license of the proposed license rates, not so much to the amounts fixed as to the methods of computation.

Representatives of the State Highway Commission contended for a considerably higher scale of license rates than the bill proposes as it was presented by the committee. Their objections were heard and taken under advisement.

The best information tonight was that some slight amendments proposed by the automobile clubs of the State probably would be adopted and the committee bill reported out with those amendments, but without incorporating the changes suggested by Chenu and by the highway committee.

The question of a tax of a cent

by Chenu and by the highway committee.

The question of a tax of a cent a salion on gasoline entered indirection to the hearing today, but the determination of whether a bill for determination of whether a bill for determination which has such a measure on its files. Snyder gave the steam-shovel engineer the "high sign," and the work was under way.

From now on the project will be carried forward with all possible speed. Contractor Hayes, whose bid of $995.773, is said to have been based upon pre-war prices, says he intends to work his gangs day and night in an effort to complete the tunnel by July 4, 1922. According to his contract he has 465 days in which to finish the task.

Gingham Day Wednesday Only

The third important event—the climax, many will say—in Dress Goods Week is Gingham Day. For this one day only, the best grade Ginghams, including Scotch and English, will be reduced to 95c a yard. Crowds will come before the doors are open.

10,000 Yards of Fine Ginghams, 95c

10,000 yards of Ginghams, including the best makes from Scotch and English mills, are offered at 95c for one day only.

10,000 yards—in a wealth of new spring patterns and colors! There are blocks, checks, plaids of different sizes, and of course, solid colors.

These are uncommon Ginghams. They are of a texture almost like silk.

For little girls' dresses with bloomers peeping beneath the hem, a host of color combinations is in readiness. 600 Yards Pure Worsted

Ginghams suggest youthfulness, cleanliness, freshness. The college girl finds at least two Gingham Frocks a necessity. The mother of any girl or boy finds a dress of Gingham very becoming and withal comfortable. Clothed in it, she finds the years drop away from her. The miss and the young matron love Gingham because, like them, it expresses the Springtime of beauty.

Colors in this great group of Ginghams include new and indescribably beautiful shades of brown, corn, blue, red, lavender, pink, gray, green, in the many com-binations which Scotch and Eng-lish manufacturers know so well how to blend.

10,000 yards of Fine Ginghams reduced for a day—Wednesday— to an exceptional price—to 95c a

240 Petticoats from the Philippines, $3.95

240 Fine Lingerie Petticoats from the Philippines make up an extraordinary purchase. So low a figure was obtained on these that they are to be offered Wednesday at $3.95. This is half, and less than half, of what they would ordinarily sell for.

They are all made with a 12-inch flounce. Above this are embroid-ered slits through which ribbon is run. The embroidery in the flounce is eyelet, punch-work and solid, with scarcely two patterns alike. The edge of the ruffle is finished with scallops or real filet.

The Petticoats are fashioned of muslin of superior quality, and ev-ery thread in their making is done by hand.

yesterday, and will take a week to try.

The Maryland Casualty Company was bondsman for the Shafer family, contractors. In the suit on trial, J. H. Shafer had the contract for building the road from Visalia to Tulars. It is asserted he falled to pay the bills for work, labor and material. The Shafer family all went on the bonds to co-indemnify each other. The surety in J. H. Shafer's case is $23,132.75. The State has paid the contractor a portion of the contract price. There remains on hand with the State $13,525.64.

The casualty company wants the State to turn the balance due over to the court, and out of this fund to pay the claims and liens. The defendants say there is about $20,000 due the claimants. The casualty company asserts that between $5000 and $6000 will liquidate the claims.

The third suit will be started after this one is completed.

With the idea of making our Pattern Service more helpful, we have for months past been investigating various brands of patterns in an endeavor to find one that presents the most authoritative styles, as they first make their appearance—one that is a creator as well as an adapter—a pattern that is so simple that it can be used with success even by those of little or no experience in sewing—and then, most important of all, a pattern so accurately and correctly cut that it uses the minimum amount of material and fits so per-

Labor GRAPTERS.

Builders of the Chicago union depot paid divers and sundry labor-union leaders and walking delegates a total of $100,000 in cash as "protection" against strikes and labor troubles. The grafters all had to have real money. They would never accept checks. Payments were usually made $10 and $20 bills as being the easiest sile and $20 bills as being the easiest to handle without suspicion. It appears that the labor-union leeches levied an assessment against every large building enterprise and if this were not met there would be threats of strikes or other troubles. The proportion charged against this depot was $100,000 and was paid. The grafters kept getting more claimorous in their damands and as a final result more than $100,000,000 worth of brilding improvements were suspended or shandoned in Chicage alone. There was a great demand for houses and apartments. Hundreds of families were virtually homeless and landlerds seized the opportunity to raise rents all over the city. Chicage is now trying to get back into her building program after a suspension of more than a year. Rents are still terriby righ. That is what the unions have done for one city. Yet the world is taught to believe that Chicage is proud of being in the measure of the automs.

A RE AMERICANS IMMORAL?

A One of the boulevard newspapers of Paris contained last month a curious communication in regard to the United States and the League of Nations. It was a protest from one who signed himself "Young Turk" against the admission of the United States to the League. He based the objection of his countrymen on the contention that, if our country was admitted, the decrees of the League would be formulated by the "three libertine nations of the western world." Prance, England and the United States.

This young Turk was disturbed about the morals of the League. Much of his information had been gathered from seeing moving pictures of western society life. The triangle plays filled him with holy borror. It seemed to him that the unfaithful wife was extelled in the countries of the Glaour triangle plays filled him with holy horror. It seemed to him that the unfaithful wife was extelled in the countries of the Gisour, whereas, in the dominions of the Prophet she would have been put to death.

There was a note of funaticism in the communication which gave color to the belief that it was not a bit of French sarcass, but a genuine protest. It was argued that the covenant of the League empowered the contracting countries to make general regulations which would affect the moral life of the peoples of the world. It was possible that western divorce laws might be adopted. Although Turkey is not a member of the League, she might be compelled to obey the mandates of that body to the extent that the loose morals of the west might be introduced into Islam.

Few "Gisours" have a realization of the vengeance with which the unfaithful wife is pursued in Turkish countries. Death is the punishment for infidelity; and the husband is empowered by law to act as executioner. It is for this reason that there is little material on which a love triangle could be constructed in Turkey. And it is no wonder that an orthodox Turk should be shocked to learn that a woman of the west, after being divorced for infidelity, may become a queen of filmlund.

Some may imagine that the death penalty for unchastity is no longer inflicted in Turkey, that the country has become too "civilized" to permit a continuation of such punishments. Those who are in doubt should read an article pu "A Turkish Haren." by Loretta I. Bigley, a Red Cross nurse, in the April number of Current History. She there speaks from her own experience as follows:

Any indiscretion on the part of a

Any indiscretion on the part of a Turkish wife is followed by swift punishment. If there is evidence enough to prove that she has violated her marriage vows the punishment is death. I had been in Aintah some time when one evening, returning to my rooms from the Rescue Home. I passed a group of Turkish and Kurdish houses. A woman's loud shrieks attracted my attention. At first I could get no information from my interpreter, although I knew she could understand all that was being said; when we had almost reached our compound, however, she informed me that the husband of the shrieking woman had discovered that she had been sharing her affections with a Kurdish neighbor. As a result she must die. There was no escape. The following morning we learned that she had expisted her crime in the presence of several witnesses, the executioner being her husband.

A people among whom such customs prevail must be shocked at the brazen immorality of most of the love triangles in the films. It is not surprising that Moslems should raise the moral issue against being placed under the authority of a League whose Supreme Council should be dominated by nations in which such things are permitted.

According to the letter of the law, up-

According to the letter of the law, unfaithfulness on the part of either husband or wife is a criminal offense in every American State. But it is unfortunately true that, except in extreme cases, this law is not enforced. Even in State and communities where pictures of murders and banditry cannot be displayed the triangle pictures are not barred.

The things engines which the young Turk

are not barred.

The things sgainst which the young Turk protests are outside the law in what he terms the "libertine countries." Perhaps it is not greatly to their moral credit that such crimes are not punished with the same rigor as crimes against life and property.

modious enough for the joint use of the city and county. Two-thirds of the population of the county is within the limits of the city and in many instances the difference between the functions of a county and a city official exist only in name. Some of the city and county described in the city and ci the city and county departments are now consolidated and, as the seats of the two governments are in the same city, there can be no valid objection to a consolidation of prisons.

A suitable location is already possessed by the county for such a structure. There is ample room on the county property at Temple and New High streets for a building of sufficient size to house 1200 prisoners and for offices for the city and county departments that are immediately associated with the arrest and detention of criminal suspects.

At a conference held on Tuesday a tentative plan was broached under which the county would undertake to construct a suitable building for a joint jail and the city would pay an annual rental equal to 5 per cent of the cost of the structure. The city would also bear its proportionate share of the expense of boarding and guarding the prisoners, as well as a rental for the space occupied by the city departments.

It was proposed further that the money to pay for the new jail building be raised by direct taxation covering a period of two years rather than by a bond issue. The sum to be raised would be about $750,000 for each of two years. This would not amount to more than 5 cents on each $100 of real and personal property in the county; and, after the building was once constructed and paid for, the rental paid by the city would make the investment a profitable one for the county taxpayers, two-thirds of whom are city taxpayers also.

The Times urges that an arrangement along the interest into the content of the county taxpayers also.

The Times urges that an arrangement along the lines suggested be entered into at the earliest moment that details can be concluded. We have exposed again and again the crying shame of keeping several hundred persons locked up in the cramped, unsanitary, vermin-infested buildings now used for city and county jails. It is a wholly inexcusable offense, committed in the name of justice. Every day that such

His grievance against the English is that they are selling als, porter and other flery potions to American citizens. The Isle of Bimini, in the Bahamah, is only a score or so of miles off the American coast, but it belongs to Great Britain and is not subject to the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment. As a result it is becoming a roadhouse for the joy riders of the Atlantic.

On a clear day Col. Bryan can stand on the roof of his Florida palace and, with the aid of a strong glass—if he indulges such things—behold the thirsty Americans lined up four deep in front of the Biminibar. When they get three or four schooners under their belts they are apt to burst forth into song and make tribaid remarks about the act that Mr. Volgead put out.

To the mind of Col. Bryan this is a casus belli. It would sound that way on the phonograph, anyhow. He says that the En-probable that the hostile spirit would have been curbed. Our own government is perhaps to blame that such a League was not formed; and the result of that failure has been to leave conditions in Southeastern Europe and Southwestern Asia pretty much as they were before the World War.

Greek troops have been waging a spirited war during the last few weeks against the Turks; but this is not the first time that Greece has taken on Turkey. Every time it has happened in the past great powers have been compelled to intervene to prevent the complete subjugation of Greece by the Turks. Those familiar with conditions in the Near-East will not believe that the Greeks can maintain a successful offensive against their powerful Moslem enemies. When the Turks are united the Greeks find themselves outnumbered about Greeks find themselves outnumbered about five to one by troops their equal in valor and training. Permanent peace will not be established in the Balkans until some kind of federation is formed to unite those peoples under a government that it will be to their mutual interest to support.

STALE HUSBANDS.
The president of the Women's Freedom League says that after the fifth year the man is an absolutely negligible factor in the home. "Negligible factor" means that he cuts no ice. He's a dead one and is about as important as a rabbit at the zoological gardens. After a man has been a husband for five years, why not stun him pansy bed? Why not drown our fifth-year pansy bed? Why not drown our fifth-year husbands and save a lot of money?

In recent years women have taken to shooting their husbands. Sometimes they do not wait for the fifth year, but begin biazing away as soon as the honeymoon has staled. They take no chances on having a negligible factor around the place. They want a live one and start the program by killing off the one they have. There is by killing on the one they have. There is nothing as useless as a shelf-worn husband. He simply clutters up the place and takes the room of something more serviceable or ornamental. Possibly it would be better to chloroform all husbands after the fifth year.

Yet husbands have their value. Probably the lady in command of the Women's Free dom League took some pride in the first one she rounded up and was inclined to show him off to the neighbors. Women usually do. Sometimes they are so desirous of a man that they do not hesitate to steal the husband of some other woman—even a fifth-year husband. Indeed the Women's Freedom League is so called because the members feel an absolute freedom to en-gage in husband-stealing in addition to running for sheriff and other sports.

Possibly husbands are not worth much sympathy, but some of them at least deserve a better fate than to be labeled as negligible factors and pushed off the earth after their fifth year of servitude. We might at least have a be-kind-to-dumb-hus-

CORRECTING A CORRECTION.

CORRECTING A CORRECTION.

In correcting, mildly we hope, the error of the publishers who advertised the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" as the work of Mary J. Holmes, the Star thought it was doing no more than was right in behalf of the literary reputation of Sherlock Holmes, whose celebrated novel, "The Ring and the Book," by an unfortunate but-perfectly obvious association of ideas, suggested to us the breakfast bell.

The error was instantly caught by R. W. Shaw of Enid, Okla., who writes to inform us that Sherlock Holmes did not write the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" and invites us to guess again. The Star takes the reproof with due humility. It will do no more guessing. Everybody knows that the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," although a title at one time humorously bestowed on Herbert Hoover, is perhaps the most widely and favorably known work that has come from the pen of Burton Holmes, the celebrated Supreme Court justice and near relative of Prof. Oliver Barrett Wendell of Harvard, author of "Old Ironsides" and other books on the mining industry.—[Kansas City Star.

THE FIRST JAIL IN LOS ANGELES.

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN.

It was only yesterday that we built one big enough to shelter all the native sons and daughters who at liberty.

Long. long ago, when our great city was a huddle of adobe huts, we built a jail for men who rode their horses hard and used their shooting irons; for men who drank and did the things that men are doing now. It was a wooden shack with a heavy wooden door and iron bars across the window that was higher than the head of any man. And everybody wondered who would be the first on which the law would lay its heavy hand.

hand.

One day there came a man to pray at the humble mission church. He was a simple-hearted man, but his heart was torn with fear as men are torn by beasts. He slept and wakened with the dread of going to jail, for he knew that there was no day so holy, no moment so sacred that the hand of the law might not be laid upon him. Every day he made the piteous prayer of the unregenerate who do not ask forgiveness, but to be saved from the consequences of their sin:

"Oh, God, spare me while I live!

to be saved from the consequences of their sin:

"Oh, God, spare me while I live! Punish me through all eteratty. If Thou must, but, oh, Lord God Almighty, spare me now!"

He lived on a lonely ranch where years ago he committed a secret sin that no man knew—a sin against the government that would have sent him to the "pen." His only safeguard seemed to be that there were no jails in the village where he came to pray. To him diagrace was worse than death, and if he saw a shadow across his path or heard a footatep at his door his soul shriveled into nothingness. Never an hour in the day, never a conscious mement at night that in imagination he did not teel the grip of an officer's hand upon his shoulder. Every day he lived as if it were his last, for he knew that if ever a prison was built in Los Angeles he would be the first to lie within its shadow—a man despised and hated.

But that someone might remember within its shadow—a man despised and hated.

But that someone might remember him pityingly he gave an overflowing measure of kindness and unselfishness. Every man loved him, every woman honored him and little children clung to him as he walked barefooted through the street.

One day as he knelt in the dark corner of a wooden pew God gave him a message for the world. Men gloried in his intellect and in the sanctity of his life and in the sanct youth!

Oftener and oftener he came to pray in the little church and his prayer was ever the same.

"Oh, Lord, save me from becoming an oftense to those who love and honor me!"

One day as he came out of the church he saw a shack with iron bars at windows higher than his head and men told him it was the new jail.

head and men told him it was the new jail.

He knew it was built for him and he felt the cruel prick of the sword that had hung over him so many years—the sword that would not kilh but would maim him for life. His hair whitened and in his face was the sorrow of the crucified as he lifted his arms to the sky, crying:

"Oh, God, I am so frightened!"

"Oh, God, I am so frightened!"
He dragged himself to the priest and confessed his sin—the sin he had hidden deep in his heart even in the confessional.

The voice of the priest was exceedingly tender as he said:
"Go, my son, to the little fall and ask to see a cell. And because you are a holy man they will let you enter and sit a while and talk with God."

And with the courage of those who are a holy man they will let you enter and sit a while and talk with God."

And with the courage of those who live in lonely places he went to the rude prison and the sheriff showed him through the newly finished shack with its strong timbers and locks that no man could break from the inside. The hermit entered the inner room made for the wickedest man and asked to be imprisoned for an hour.

The hermit entered and sat on the rough-hewn plank and listened to the rattle of chains as the Sheriff double-locked the door. He looked up at the grated window and his tears fell like rain as he thought of the day when he would sit in this jall and expiate his sin—of the day when men would lose faith in the Almighty because his sin had found him out.
It seemed as if his heart would break with woe: it seemed as if he sat in thick darkness and that there was no star in all his sky.

Suddenly a great light shone upon him and he knew that the jail was like the Ark of the Covenant—that it would be a refuge from the fear that scourged him every hour. He remembered that prisons have given the world a precious heritage of triumphant songs and wondrous stories. That the tears that men and women have shed in prison have wiped every blot from their calendar of life.

And when his hour was ended he went to the place where the padres

And when his hour was ended be went to the place where the padres worshiped and for the first time he felt worthy to kneel at the altar. Then he walked back to his home Then he waited each to his home girt by the mountains and in the midnight hour he broke a bottle on a great white stone. Its deadly odor mingled with the delicious fragrance of the orange blossoms and, as he flung a shining bit of steel into a ravine, he knew he would never again fear to go to jail. But to the end of life he never knew when he might enter the "Open Door" that locks on the inside. His last hour came and he roused with a great cry:

"I see a light! The great light!
The light I saw in jail!"
And they who watched him whispered:
"His great day has come!"
"Give me the hely book!"

"His great day has come!"
"Give me the holy book!"
He opened the worn pages and turned his dim eyes upon them. Tremblingly he pointed to a spot that was snow white where his fingers had worn away the print. The place was as thin as a gossamer web. His lips moved:
"If a soul shall sin unwittingly and shall make atonement, IT SHALL BE FORGIVEN HIM!
Then his face arrew radiant, for in

Then his face grew radiant, for in that last hour the hermit knew he had sprinkled every act of his beautiful life with his heart's blood

The road is dark with reckless gents whose cheap cars swiftly pass, and they have less than fifty cents when they have less than fifty cents when they have paid the gas. They got their cars where junk is sold by some unmoral man; they got their cars to have and hold on the installment plan. And if they smashed my limousine, destroyed its priceless hood, they could not raise a silver bean to make the damage good. And if perchance they ran me down and broke my costly spine, they could not raise a single crown to pay a claim of mine. Along the road their boats are huried, for wrecks they do not care; they have no assets in the world, the damages to repair. It was a perfect French night. In other words, the rain was coming down steadily and the mud was at its stickiest. In "squab" formation—twos, threes, fives and sixes—a regiment of Buffaloes was moving into an alleged rest camp. The accent was on the camp.

The most forlorn of all the forlorn crew staggered against a barracks doorway, where he was accosted by a white noncom:

"Well Sam whaddys think of this."

"Well, Sam, whaddye think of this war now? Pretty good war?"
With a facial expression that said he meant it, Sam replied:
"Boss, dis yeah war never was a good war—and dis last day practically done ruined it! completely."—

Height of Generosity.

When the church in Newton, Mass. attended by Darius Cobb, the well-known painter, was trying to raise money to lift the mortgage, a mass meeting was held to solicit contributions. It came Mr. Cobb's turn to tell what he would give for the cause.

turn to tell what he would give for the cause.

"I haven't any money, but I'll give a $300 picture," he said.

When all the contributions were in it was found there was still a deficit, and the members of the con-gregation were asked to increase their donations.

"All right," said Cobb, "I'll do my share. I'll raise the price of my pic-ture to $300,"—[American Legion Weekly.

Reason Enough.

Jones met his friend Stimson in the street the other night.

"Halloa, old fellow," he exclaimed.
"How are you getting on?"

"Pretty well, thank you," answered Stimson, "but," he continued. "I've something to say to you—you'll have to keep your eyes open next week."

"How is that?" queried Jones.
"Because you won't be able to see if you don't," and before Jones could kick him he was out of sight.—

There wasn't any paint on her dress.—[Exchange.

CASHIER ROUTS THREE BANDITS.

Twenty-five Thousand Loot Lost to Robbers.

Coin Custodian Badly Beaten by Hold-up Men.

Stolen Car Used by Thieves, Who Make Getaway.

Struggling with an armed bandit for the possession of a grip con-taining $25,000 in cash and checks. taining $25,000 in cash and checks, while a crowd of pedestrians stood by and watched the affair, A. M. Morton, cashier of the Examiner, yestesday afternoon at 1 p.m., fought off the highwayman and then assisted in directing the police investigation that followed the flight of the bandit in an automobile. In the fight for the money grip, that took place at Eleventh street and Broadway, Mr. Morton was beaten on the head with a revolver and injured.

Although unarmed, William Barties of 421 South Eastlake avenue, who saw the hold-up, sprang into who saw the hold-up, sprang into his automobile and gave chase. The bandit car coftained three men. At Union avenue and Sixteenth street, Bartles ran the hold-ups' automobile into the curbing and wrecked it. The three bandits sprang to the ground uninjured and escaped. A search of the neighborhood by scores of police officers failed to disclose any trace of them.

STOLEN MACHINE.

An investigation by Police Detectives Roberts and Beaumont showed that the machine the robbers used had been stolen from in front of the Clara Barton Hospital several hours before. The car is owned by Louis Jacobson of 2715 Fargo street; Edendale, who did not know that the machine was missing until informed by the police.

According to Police Detectives Mailheau and Hickey, four men took part in the attempted hold-up. One of the bandits, according to the police, acted as a spotter, and took no part in the attempted robbery, except to inform the other three when Mr. Morton left his office with the money grip. The second bandit remained at the wheel of the automobile during the struggle on the sidewalk, and the third was in the back seat of the machine. The fourth bandit attacked Mr. Morton.

HOLD-UP DESCRIBED.

In his statement to the police, made before he would accept medical attention, Mr. Morton said: "I walked out of the side entrance of the Examiner Building with the money grip, containing about $25.000 in cash and checks, at about 12:50 p.m. Just as I reached the corner of Eleventh street and Broadway, I noticed an automobile with both side doors open drive up to the curbing. One man sprang out of the machine and ordered me to hand over the grip. He held a revolver pointed at my head. I grabbed the grip with both hands and started to yell. The highwayman struck me on the head with the barrel of his weapon several times and jerked at the grip. I held on, and then he jumped back in the machine and it drove away. Another man started to run, I think be had something to do with the hold-up. There were three men in the automobile when it drove away." HOLD-UP DESCRIBED.

The marriage will take place in June, no definite date having been fixed. The couple will go to Europe for their honeymoon.

Hints of the romance which culminated in the engagement were given to Mr. Lewinsohu's friends in the past months when the attorney was seen with Miss Mayer at social functions and in Southern California clubs. An appeal to Clear-thinking Citizens

THE Commercial Printing plants of Los Angeles face a situation which vitally affects you — and every other citizen of Southern California.

The unions have demanded that from May 1st, 1921, the work week be cut from 48 hours (the present week,) to a 44-hour week—a reduction of practically 10% in working hours—and with no reduction in pay.

Cost experts-after careful estimates based on authentic records—state that in the average printing plant this cut of four hours per week would mean an increase of 25% in production cost.

And this, at a time when the future of America absolutely demands increased production at reduced cost or bankruptcy.

But, bad as this is, it's only the beginning.

The Typographical Record (organ of the printing unions,) in January, contained this ominous threat: "Today we shall conquer the 44-hour week and tomorrow the six-hour day.'

Bank Clearings

Bush Clearings are generally considered a sort of moneter of business conditions,—one of the signs of the times in the business world. Figures are published daily and compared with those of other cities and of previous years. Yet many people have but a surpasseral understanding of what bank clearings are.

What Are Bank Clearings?

Each bank accumulates every day a large number of checks presented for deposit or for cashing, which are drawn on some other bank. These are sent by the compart of the Clearing-house, where a mutual excitation of such checks is made by these representatives of the various banks. It is the total of all these checks that makes up the bank clearings for the day.

Total Bank Transactions

A Clearing do not by any means represent total transactions. For instance, they do not include interest cashed or deposited over the counters of me hank on which they are drawn, nor bank drafts sailer's checks. Such transactions amount to over $60,000 a week in Los Angeles,—more than twice the clearing.

by a statement from H. E. Woolner, president of the corporation, in which he pointed out that the receivership was instrumental in assisting the company to recuperate.
His statement, in part, follows:
"The Great Western Milling Company is one of the large milling concerns of Los Angeles and has been

"It Woolnes added that the consumption of flour and feed products in Southern California has been on he increase. He said arrangements to double the capital of the commany are being made by the corporation's officials.

OFFICIALS GOSSIPED.

From Washington. President Harding talked with President Monecal: Col. Carty held a conversation with President Vehn of the Cuban Telephone Company; Secretary of State; Hughes chatted with Dr. Desvernine, the Cuban Becretary of State; Secretary of the Treasury Mellon gossiped with Col. Hernandes, Cuban Secretary of the Treasury, and Mr. Powley, from this city, conversed with Col. Carty.

The line, said Mr. Powley, was open the entire distance between Avalon and Hawana, and at no time were any of the telephonic messages relayed. In all the cities which responded to the roll call the voices of all the speckers were heard distinctly. At Denver, the voices sped over wires a mile above sea level, and between Key West and Hawana they traveled over a cable one mile below sea level.

The distance covered by the telephonic test, said Mr. Powley, is equivalent to the distance between London and Peking, via Constantinopis. It would also reach from Dallas, Tex., to southern South America, touching every national capitol on that centinent.

SAYS STORY ON ACID NOT TRUE.

practically his entire face.

"I know who they are and can identify them," she stated positively. It was this last link in the chain of evidence for which the officers had been waiting, because the case appeared hopeless if Mrs. McCoy and Mr. Crabb maintained their original stories.

The first report of the acid attack, which occurred March 23 at the Crabb fruit stand near Alhambra, was strangely belated. It was 10 pm, before the victim reached the Alhambra Hospital, and she refused to make any explanation of how she became burned until Crabb reached the hospital some time later. The story about two negroes having committed the crimes was then related and deputy sheriffs of Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties began a round-up of all suspicious colored men. More than a score were taken into custody by Sheriff Shay's deputies in San Bernardino county and Crabb was taken to the jail there by Deputies Bright and Modie in order to look over the suspects. He was unable to identify any of them.
